Before you begin

NOTE: We need your measurements to be precise so your hair system fits well. Please take the measurements more than once to double check them.

If you wear a hair system or wig, remove it before taking your measurements.

If you have no front hairline or plan to shave it off, find and mark the center point for your front hairline as directed in the previously provided instructions.

Using your mirrors, look at the back of your head and determine where your hair loss stops and your hair becomes full at the back or crown of your head. If you have diffused loss, choose the spot that you would like the back of your hair system to be. Touch that spot and make a mental note of it.

Step 1: Find your length measurement

Place the end of the tape measure on the point on the back of your head where your hair loss stops and your hair becomes full.

If you have no front hairline, extend the tape measure forward to the mark you made on your forehead. Do not extend the tape measure past this mark.

If you're using your growing front hairline, extend the tape measure to the exact spot you plan to place the front of your hair system — no closer than 1/4 inch (6 mm) and no further than 1 inch (2.5 cm) behind your front hairline.

Be sure the tape measure is pulled tight, but not stretched.

Note the measurement. Return to Gather™, then go to the Menu under Manual Measurements and choose Size. Enter the measurement, in centimeters, under Step 1.

Step 2: Find your width measurement

For this measurement, you need to locate the widest area of your hair loss from one side of your head to the other. Usually this is in alignment with your ears. Find the area on each side where your hair is the fullest, and extend the measuring tape over your head, from one side to the other. Be sure the tape measure is pulled tight, but not stretched.

Enter the measurement, in centimeters, under Step 2.
